VIETNAM, WHAT THE CEASE FIRE MEANS

The Vietnamese people have finally won peace in their country. For 30 years they've been fighting for independence, first from France and then from the United States. Since 1965 the U.S. military has been bombing Vietnam with everything possible short of nuclear weapons. Sadistic new weapons were used, such as napalm that burns people to the bone, and defoliants which poison the people's food supply. But the determination and unity of the Vietnamese people finally defeated the largest military power in the history of the world. On January 27, 1973 the ceasefire was signed.

The end of the war is a great victory for the people of Vietnam. It hopefully means an end to the murder of millions of people. It means that after so many years of fighting, the foreign armies will be out of Vietnam within 60 days of the signing of the ceasefire. The problems in Vietnam will now be worked out by Vietnamese.

The ceasefire is also a victory for the American people. For ten years our brothers were sent to Vietnam to die in a war that no one wanted. Many American people protested and attempted to end the war. Thousands of people were arrested and beaten by police while demonstrating to end the war. Some even lost their lives while trying to save the lives that were being wasted in Vietnam. The U.S. government tried to carry on that murderous war in the name of the American people. It was important that we showed that the majority of people in the country did not support the killing and murder in Vietnam. The end of the war was a great victory for all those people in the world who want peace.

Even though the United States government signed the ceasefire agreement, it's still too soon for the Vietnamese to relax and enjoy the victory. The bomb shelters in Hanoi have not been dismantled. Twelve years ago, in 1954, the Vietnamese signed agreements in Geneva, Switzerland, that were very similar to the ones signed recently in Paris. The agreement stated that elections were to be held in 1956, but the U.S. government knew that if there were fair elections, 80% of the people would have voted for the revolutionary leader Ho Chi Minh. That's when the United States moved into Vietnam to make sure the Geneva agreements didn't get carried out and elections were never held.

Four and a half years ago President Johnson announced a halt to all the bombing of North Vietnam. But, since that bombing halt, Nixon has carried out the most intense bombing in the history of the world. So far, the U.S. government has never stuck to any agreement. The Vietnamese people, the American people, and all peace-loving people hope that this agreement will be carried out in full.

Hopefully, the U.S. military will not resume its attacks on the people of Vietnam. Even if the military struggle against the U.S. has ended, the struggle of the Vietnamese people is not over. Vietnam has been torn apart by years of war and the people have a long, hard job ahead of them to rebuild the beauty of their country that was destroyed. They must also struggle for reunification and democracy. The ceasefire agreements call for a peaceful reunification and elections. The people of Vietnam will be working in the years ahead to make sure that their good and just cause of building their country to serve the people will remain victorious.

WHAT HAPPENED AT TULEY HIGH SCHOOL

"THIS WAS NO RACIAL CONFLICT"

You can push people around and treat them like dirt for only so long before they get fed up with it. This is what happened at Tuley High School. The students, parents, and other residents of the community forced the Board of Education to remove Dr. Herbert Fink as principal of the school. For nine years Fink has been running the school with no concern for the people. There have been protests, struggles, and riots for a long time. Finally, the people built up so much strength that the school board had to remove him.

Fink isn't disliked because of one incident or one thing that's wrong with him. He's consistently showed insensitivity and lack of concern for the students and the community. For one thing, he isn't concerned about the quality of education. Juniors in high school are using a 7th grade science text. When students have problems, Fink's solution is to throw them out. Many times he's thrown out students without notifying the parents. Instead of helping and educating students, Fink wants to get rid of them. Tuley has one of the highest drop-out rates in the city, partly because Fink encourages this if he doesn't like them.

Fink has also been known to try to promote racial tensions and hostility between Latins, Blacks, and whites. For example, a Black woman went to talk to him about her son who was a student. He told her that her son shouldn't be hanging around with Puerto Ricans because they are no good. She then told Fink that her husband is Puerto Rican and she's been married to him for 20 years and that Puerto Ricans are wonderful people. After this, Fink gave her and her son nothing but trouble until her son finally quit school and joined the army.

Fink is more concerned about the image of the school than the actual conditions. Whenever there was any trouble at the school, Fink would always manage to keep it out of the papers. Tuley has one of the worst drug problems of any school in the city. But, rather than deal with the causes of the problem, Fink denies that it exists. This way the school looks good from a distance, but the students suffer day to day.

These are just small examples of what kind of principal that Fink was. Almost everyone in the neighborhood can give you a similar example. It was the consistent practice of treating the students and the community in a degrading and insulting way that led to the struggle at Tuley.

Everybody has had different experiences with Fink and there are a lot of different opinions on what actually happened at Tuley. You can't put all the students or all the community people in one bag and give it a label. Some people were ready to pick up a gun - especially when the police came in and attacked the people. Others talked about how we weren't ready for that yet. Some people marched and many wanted things to be peaceful. There were also those that stayed high and didn't pay much attention to anything. But, all these different people were united in that they wanted better education and that getting rid of Fink was the first step in doing that. What happened was that after years of things building up, the people started getting it together.

On Wednesday, January 31, there was a sit-in in the school cafeteria. The room was filled. A teacher named Mr. Yannie, attacked a student named Punch. The other students defended Punch and a fight broke out. Police were called to the school and started pushing everybody around and beating people. The students then threw bricks, rocks, and bottles at the police. 17 police were injured and 18 students were arrested. The fight was between students on one side and cops on the other. In no way was this a fight among students of different races.

Thursday, the school was kept closed. Friday, the students had a boycott where almost everyone stayed out of school. Monday, the school was opened by more than 150 police. There were 4 cops at every door, checking I.D.'s and giving everyone a hard time. Tuley looked more like a prison than a high school. On Monday night came the good news that Fink was removed from his job.

The news reports built up a lot of confusion about what was happening. They kept trying to make it seem like a race fight where Latin, Black, and white students were fighting each other - but this was a complete and total lie. This was no racial conflict. The people opposed to Fink were Latin, Black and white. Even the small handful of people who supported Fink were racially mixed.

There were also hints that the trouble at Tuley was caused by gangs fighting each other. In fact, the opposite is true. The clubs at Tuley have been getting along better than ever, especially since the struggle against Fink got going. The Latin Kings, Spanish Lords, Disciples, and Haddon Boys all worked together against Fink and the pigs. Most of the clubs are racially mixed and there's more racial unity at Tuley than at most schools. Fink and his friends in the news media said that racial tension was the problem. In fact, exactly the opposite was true. Fink was forced out by the people because there was unity.

COPS SHOOT BROTHER ON 21st BIRTHDAY

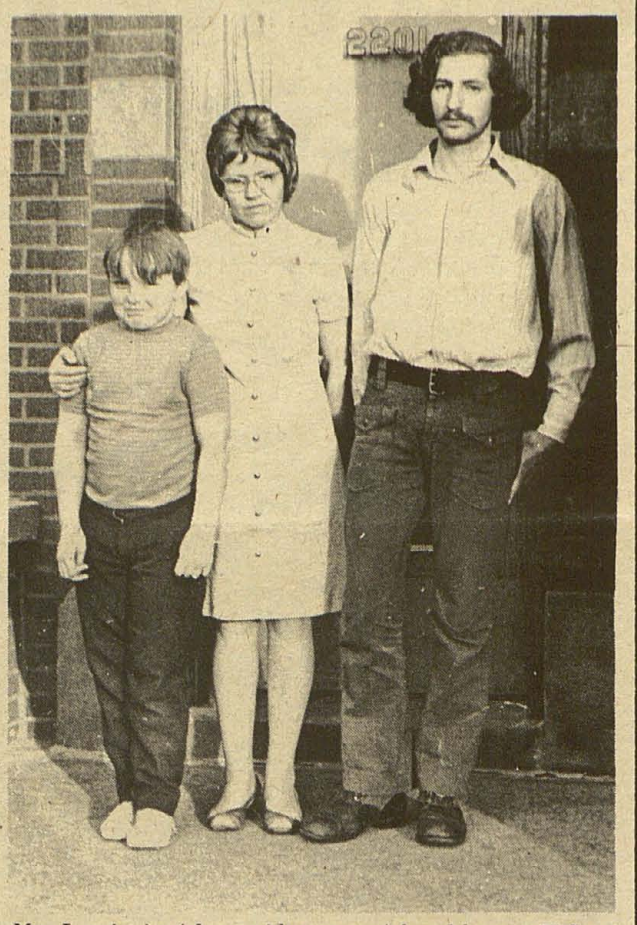
Late in the afternoon of January 21, Wally Jarosiewicz of 2201 N. Campbell started drinking with his family to celebrate his 21st birthday. The celebration ended later that night with Wally being shot twice by a trigger-happy 14th district cop named Thomas Peebles. This is what happened.

Wally had been drinking and celebrating a lot when he started to get rowdy. After his mother and brother tried to calm him down, and couldn't, his mother decided to call the police to see if they could help. Four squads pulled up to the house and six cops jumped out. After hearing the situation they said, "Sorry we can't do anything, we have more important things to do" - and they left.

Mrs. Jarosiewicz went right out to call them again because they hadn't even tried to talk to him.

By the time she got back to the house Wally had calmed down already. When he understood the cops would be coming he went down to the basement to stay out of their way since he's on probation and didn't want anymore trouble. This time 20 cops came into the house to search the building and some were sent to search the neighborhood. The next thing the family heard was a cop yelling, "We found him in the basement" - and "Get out of there." Then they heard Wally yelling, "Mom, help me." A shot was fired and they heard a scuffle and then another shot. Wally was screaming as the cops dragged him out and neighbors saw the cops kicking and hitting Wally (who was handcuffed & shot) down the gangway. In front of the house, Wally fainted and the police picked him up and they threw him in the paddy wagon.

Mrs. Jarosiewicz was shocked. She had asked for a little help and the police came and shot her son. Two cops stayed at the apartment to guard the basement area where the shooting took place. Later, more detectives and cops came to investigate.



Mrs. Jarosiewicz (above with two sons) heard her son Wally yell, "Mom, help me." Then she heard 2 shots as police fired on him.

Wally Jarosiewicz is now in the House of Corrections Hospital. One bullet went through his shoulder and the other is still in his back, right next to the spine. He has been charged with 2 counts of aggravated battery and his bail is $2,500 cash.

Mrs. Jarosiewicz requested the Rising Up Angry Legal Program to defend Wally. Members of the Legal Program have already done extensive investigation and it is clear that Wally was shot from less than 6 feet away and there is no possible justification for this act of police brutality.

We urge Wally's neighbors to support him by coming to court with him.

COPS PUSH DOPE

Commissioner Murphy Reveals Largest Dope Deal–Committed by His Own Men!

Reports of the "loss" from police property rooms of nearly 300 pounds of heroin and cocaine, worth more than $50 million, have been released by police commissioner Patrick Murphy.

One thing the cops neglected to mention is what this huge amount of dope means in terms of human suffering. In New York, where heroin overdose is the largest cause of death among young people, nearly 1350 people between the ages of 15 and 35, died of drug related causes last year alone!

In order to raise enough money to buy all this dope, victims of the drug plague would have to steal $150-200 million in goods to be sold at one quarter of their value. Police play a key role in drug traffic. If it were not for their participation, there would probably be very little drug traffic in New York.

How many corpses, how much disease, how much grief and suffering among working families can be directly and undeniably attributed to "New York's finest" dope pushers?

The Knapp Commission showed that the majority of the police are involved in graft and dope dealing. At least 7 cops have already been indicted on charges stemming from this investigation.

White Lightning has told people for over a year that police protect pushers and are themselves involved in drug traffic. Only a few people believed us before, but in light of recent developments, we wonder who could doubt it now.

SCHWINN BIKE PLANT

It's contract time again here at Schwinn, and as usual it seems that the Plant Committee, (they're supposed to represent the workers) and the Management (you know them) plan to decide what to do and have the workers vote it in the "easy" way. But this time the workers are involving themselves in the process. If the Committee does act in the best interests of the workers we'll help and support them. We've started already–we're arranging meetings with a Rising Up Angry lawyer to help the Committee get what we need; if they front us off we'll use the same lawyer to remove the Committee. The workers have the power and it seems a lot of us realize that and are ready to use it. There should be a leaflet in the plant with a petition stating our demands so we can show them (whoever wants to rip us off) right where we're at.

CHICAGO MATERNITY CENTER

RETIREMENT PARTY FOR DR. TUCKER

On January 6, Dr. Beatrice Tucker, director of the Chicago Maternity Center for 40 years, was given a retirement party by her co-workers, patients and friends. People from Fritzi Englestein Free People's Health Center and Rising Up Angry, who have had babies through the Center and support the Center's constant struggle for it to continue to stay in operation, attended along with many other friends. The spirit and love of people was at its highest–for Dr. Tucker is a fantastic example of a dedicated people's doctor. For 40 years, she has kept the Center open, giving low cost, high quality, pre-natal care and home and hospital delivery to thousands of poor people. This was done despite continual opposition from the profit-makers of medicine who put the center down. (Despite the putdowns, the statistics tell the truth–The Center has less problems with babies and mothers than the regular hospitals where you pay a fortune to have a baby). Even now that she is in her 70s, Dr. Tucker was still going out on home deliveries every night.

For Dr. Tucker, retirement is a beginning. When she returns from a short vacation, she plans to volunteer time at the Peoples' Health Center and she will possibly go to China "to learn", she said. Of course, she will still keep her eye on the Center to make sure it does OK. The rest of us will too.

Right On to Dr. Tucker, a true People's Doctor and the Chicago Maternity Center!!

HOLSTEIN PARK AND LATIN PANTHERS TAKE STEP TOWARD PEACE AND UNITY

Holstein Park is located at Palmer and Oakley on Chicago's near northwest side. Like many of the parks in the city, a lot of young brothers and sisters get together at the park at night, sometimes to play ball, mostly to hang out together. Like neighborhoods throughout the city, the neighborhood around Holstein Park has gone through a lot of changes in recent years. A lot of Latin and some Black families have moved into the area.

There are two clubs in the neighborhood, the Latin Panthers and Holstein Park. And as could be expected, some fights came down between them. But people get tired of fighting each other; they may be of different races, or speak different languages, but the same cops hassel everyone. The same government drafted brothers from all races and nationalities to go fight and die in Nam. And the mothers of Latin, Black and white all get ripped off everytime they go to the supermarket to buy food for the family. So after a number of years of fighting each other, the brothers from the Latin Panthers and Holstein decided to try and work out some peace, to stop the fighting, to stop hasseling over who controlled the park and who could even use the park.

The Park Supervisor was approached and asked if a room could be used to hold meetings between the two groups. Unfortunately the supervisor couldn't see fit to let the brothers try and work the thing out among themselves, and he called in cops from the 14th district to handle the negotiations. Several meetings were held between representatives of Holstein and the Latin Panthers, and on Thursday, February 1st, a large meeting was held with many members from both clubs present. Rising Up Angry was also invited.

Most brothers present seemed to be getting a little bored with the whole thing. When one of the officers said that in the back of his mind he didn't think the peace would work, a brother from Rising Up Angry spoke. He said, "we think it will work; it may take some time, but it will work because the people need peace and unity among themselves, so that we can go on to deal with rotton conditions -- food prices, war, working conditions, housing conditions, police, and more that all of us and our families and friends have

Together - Brothers from Holstein Park and Latin Panthers.

Then some questions started. Many of them concerned the park itself: getting in some decent equipment, being able to use rooms for meetings and dances, getting some weights, longer evening hours for recreation. It seemed that the supervisor's response to most of these questions were excuses. He didn't respect "the boys".

But time will tell, for everyday our future begins, and things are just beginning for the Latin Panthers and Holstein. One of the things that seems clear is that by working together they'll be able to get the Park to come up off a lot of outdated rules and regulations, that something new will be happening around the park, and that everyone – the Latin Panthers, Holstein, and all the people in the neighborhood – will be having a better time.

At the meeting most of the talking was done by two plainclothes community relations police from the 14th district, Sargents Greco and Howe. While the meeting was going on, two uniformed cops played ping pong downstairs. The sargents ran down how they try and help the people. They said they'd go all the way for these guys, they "don't just beat people on the head", but they help out with basketball leagues. They said they didn't understand why people mess up -- and added that if anyone was drinking or smoking they would bust them.

Rising Up Angry congratulates Holstein and the Latin Panthers for taking this step toward Peace and Unity. We encourage other clubs and gangs who have fought each other in the past, to check out what both groups are trying to do. Some people understand that life isn't just today, but it's tomorrow too. And a lot of people are beginning to understand that. Just because it's cloudy today, doesn't mean that the sun won't shine tomorrow. Just because we fought today, doesn't mean we won't be some hellified and unified brothers and sisters tomorrow.

GAS COMPANY CHEATS ON PENSION

My father recently turned 65 and, according to company rules, he had to retire. He worked for People's Gas Company for almost 20 years – doing all kinds of back-breaking and dangerous work. Even though he worked ten times as hard as any of the white-collar executives he never got paid anything near the large salaries that they got.

Several times my dad was injured because of unsafe working conditions. He was overcome by gas fumes from a faulty connection and had to be carried out of the building and revived. Another time a gas line exploded in a basement he was working in and the force of the explosion put him and another worker in the hospital.

At his retirement dinner, one of the Gas Company big shots told him that he wouldn't get the wrist watch he was promised because he was three months short of being with the company twenty years. and you had to have twenty years in before you get the watch. I guess it would bankrupt the company to give him the watch.

My dad had figured out exactly what his pension would be, and a financial statement from the Gas Company confirmed this. But, when he got his first check, it was over $30.00 less than what it was supposed to be. This really infuriated him– after nearly twenty years of hard, dangerous labor this multi-million dollar company was trying to rip him off for what few dollars he was getting.

He went to the Gas Company's accounting department and raised hell with them and showed them proof of how he was cheated. The saw that he was not going to back down so they finally straightened things out.

It's bad enough that these big companies make their employees work for lousy wages under unsafe conditions, but stealing a worker's pension money is really too much. It's almost impossible to live on a pension and social security with the price of living always rising, but the rich pigs don't care, they only want to get richer and more powerful. The only way to change this is for all of us to stand together and demand what is ours.

ST. LOUIS F.O.A.

VETERANS JOB FAIR: NO JOBS

All you Vets who don't have a job in St. Louis, check this out. The National Alliance of Businessmen in St. Louis sponsored a Job Fair for Vets at the Arena on Nov. 30th. The businessmen couldn't understand why so few people came. The newspaper said there were about 2,000 fewer people at the Job Fair this year than last year. And yet the number of unemployed Vets in St. Louis has risen from 15,000 last year to 21,000 this year.

Anyone who was there could tell you that the main reason less people showed up was because these businessmen weren't giving out any jobs. Hardly anyone got a job who was there. In fact, some companies set up booths even tho they had a hiring freeze on. Rick Bangert from VVAW hit it on the nose when he said outside the Arena: "It's hypocritical for them to do it. They are just using us for a show here like they did in Vietnam." Most Vets are getting hip to the fact that they are being used. A lot of Vets were really angry at the lack of jobs and aren't going to be fooled if the businessmen try it again next year.

LAWNDALE PARK

TOULENE BURNS YOUR BRAINS

Over the last few years a new "drug" has appeared on the streets. It is called "T.O.", "Tolly oil", or "Toluol", but many brothers and sisters have a better name for it–"pure bullshit"! It isn't too expensive, and it isn't hard to get–but there are many people who, if they were still able to, would say it is worse than skag or downers, from their own experiences with it.

Touluene is a highly poisonous chemical. It's found in a regular tube of airplane glue and many factories use it to dissolve paint and oil. It comes as a clear liquid and fools put it on a rag and sniff it. It cuts off the oxygen to your brain. People who sniff it usually get hung up in a rag, and it isn't unusual to see someone go through a whole pint of it in one day (the same as a half-gallon of glue) to keep their high going. You might remember that if there is no oxygen getting to your brain for 10 minutes, brain damage will occur that cannot be healed, since your brain is the only part of your body that cannot replace dead or damaged cells. If you want to see what happens when it is sniffed, take a piece of plastic and put it inside a jar of T.O. Look at it the next day–you won't see the plastic, because it has been dissolved. Now imagine what it does to your brain.

If you can't imagine–here are a few examples of what it has done to too many people:

One brother sniffed glue for 5 years straight. You can visit him in the nursing home, you can watch as nurses feed him, change his clothes, or take him in a wheelchair to wash up, because he can't walk, talk, or anything–in short–he is a human vegetable.

One sister became so spaced out on it that she drank a pint of it. She died two days later, her stomach eaten away. A brother tried to shoot it up–he was dead before he got the needle out of his arm. He wouldn't have done it, but he was so tore up he thought they could do it.

A brother went into a coma for several days. He had been sniffing non-stop for 2 weeks, and lost over 50 pounds because he didn't stop to eat.

Countless brothers and sisters had to be committed to hospitals because of brain damage caused by sniffing T.O. Many have large parts of their brains permanently destroyed. T.O. isn't addicting like skag or downers (although it makes people rowdy like downers)–your body doesn't need it. But it melts your will, and that is the danger. A heavy sniffer needs it because he depends on it to get him through the day.

Touluene is a killer drug. You can't face your problems by sticking your head in a glue-bag, you only shove them aside for a while. Also, a strong will is needed to face your problems, and T.O. melts your will like it melts plastic. Pig brutality, harassment, slumlords, and crooked politicians can't be fought by burnt-out zombies–they can only be fought by people with strong minds who have the will to fight the enemies of the people.

RID THE STREETS OF KILLER DRUGS!

SCHURZ HIGH SCHOOL

DEBBY SAABY SHOT IN FOOT

On Wednesday afternoon, January 31, a lot of brothers and sisters were hanging out as usual at the Triangle Drive-In across the street from Schurz H.S. at Addison and Milwaukee. What was unusual about this afternoon scene was that some FOOL boarded a CTA bus and fired out the window at the crowd in front of the Triangle.

Standing in front of the entrance to the Triangle was Debbie Saaby, a student at Schurz. Debbie was killing time after getting out of school at 3:00, before going to work at 4:00. She was talking with some of her girlfriends when she thought someone had thrown a firecracker at her. Then she fell on a car, with a bullet wound in her left foot that fractured three bones. She was taken to Belmont Hospital where her foot was operated on. Part of that bullet is still in her foot and will never come out, but fortunately she will be ok.

There were many different reports as to what happened; we have heard that Debbie was killed, that she was shot in the head, and more. There have also been many reports about who did the shooting: we have heard four different gangs reported as being responsible.

We can all learn some things from this incident: Gang fighting is a drag; it hurts the people, including innocent people, not just brothers who can't see the people's future, but care only about showing how bad they are today. This goes for all involved, not just the few whites or Puerto Ricans who have been fighting. Everyone blames the other person. If you think about it, both sides start fights, and both sides play into the hands of the businessmen, politicians and pigs, because when the people are divided, these dudes stay up top laughing at the people–and these dudes create the conditions that make us fight each other.

Another thing to think about is rumor. A lot of fights come down over something we heard–but didn't see. When rumors fly (like Debbie wasn't dead, she was shot in the foot, and that's a big difference) a lot more people get hurt. All of us have got to start saying "wait a minute, let's check it out." And all of us have got to start figuring out why these things happen, and how we can all live together so that none of our people–no matter what color or nationality–gets hurt. Next time maybe it won't be a foot, but a life. And next time maybe it will be your own sister, brother, or even mother.

ST. LOUIS F.O.A.

BROTHER SUES PARK DEPT.

About a year ago Terry Brummet was hired by the St. Louis Park Dept. as a laborer and, like everyone else who is first hired, was put on a 6 months probation. This means at the end of 6 months you're given a rating and usually made permanent. Only things didn't work this way for Terry, instead he was fired.

The boss was always piling on extra work for him, which he was not supposed to do and he refused to do it. Terry liked his job–whether it was cutting grass or cutting trees–but he refused to work in the rain (the Dept. rules say you don't have to) or to cut in dangerous spots (like on a very steep hill where the tractor could roll over). In short, this brother did his job, but didn't let the boss push him around.

A lot of the park department bosses hassled him personally–not because he did bad work, a lot of times he was ahead of everyone else–but just because some of the bosses did not like him. Maybe it was because he stood up to them, or maybe because they didn't like his long hair or the way he got along so well with all the other brothers in the parks.

Whatever the reason, Terry Brummet was called to a meeting with the head of the Park Department, Mr. Buckowitz, and some of the other bosses. They began telling him he was a troublemaker and he should get a haircut. Mr. Buckowitz even said "you're done for in the Park Dept." like he was really after this brother. But finally he got them to let him keep his job.

About 2 weeks later, one of the bosses all the laborers hate, Mr. Delbrinke, came up to Terry on his lunch hour and started hasseling Terry. He jumped out of his truck like he wanted to fight. When Terry refused to fight, Delbrinke told him he was fired. When Terry went to talk to a higher boss, the boss was always "out of town".

So now Terry is still out of a job, a job he liked and was good at. He has a wife and two kids to support. But he hasn't given up, he's suing the Park Department because he was fired for purely personal reasons, "Because I'm not a bigot capitalist and because I could get along with all the people I worked with".

We have to fight this kind of personal attack, the way brother Terry is, and we have the strength when we unite and stand up together.

WAUKEGAN

people from the Coop.

The Mother Jones Food Coop in Waukegan had a spaghetti dinner to raise money for the Coop. Over 300 people turned out and had a fantastic meal. The work in the kitchen, washing dishes, cooking, and serving the food was well organized and mostly done by the brothers. After dinner people stayed around and talked to everyone and the Soul Sensation, a young people's theater group, did their skits. It was definitely a success. Thanks to everyone that came. ALL POWER TO THE PEOPLE!

Last year, during the Democratic convention (when Nixon was getting very worried about being re-elected), 7 men were arrested for breaking into and bugging the Democratic headquarters at the Watergate Hotel in Miami. The scandal was not just that the Democrats were being spied on, but "who" was behind it - all ties led to the number one Republican himself - Nixon.

THE WATERGATE CONSPIRACY

Since then, the Watergate case has gone through many changes; shifting the evidence and hiding incriminating facts. Of the 7 men who were arrested, only 2 went to trial. On January 31st, those 2 men were convicted on six counts including conspiracy, burglary, planting listening devices and intercepting conversations on phones inside Democratic party headquarters.

The two men who were convicted are James McCord and Gordon Liddy. McCord worked for the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) for 20 years as a security chief until he quit in 1970 to become security chief for Nixon's campaign. Liddy is a former White House Aide, official of the Committee to Re-elect the President, and a former FBI agent.

The 5 remaining defendants plead guilty. First, E. Howard Hunt, Jr., pleaded guilty on January 10. Hunt is a White House consultant and was a longtime CIA agent. (He was one of the planners of the "Bay of Pigs" invasion, when the CIA unsuccessfully attempted to invade and take over Cuba in 1962). His most recent job for the President was as a member of a group assigned to plan and conduct armed action against domestic rebellion.

The other defendants, Bernard Baker, Virgilio Gonzalez, Frank Sturgis and Eugenio Martinez all plead guilty on January 15, five days after Hunt. (They all have various connections with the CIA.)

It would have been a little hard for them to try to beat the charges since they were busted dead in the act with rubber gloves on; they were planting bugs and taking pictures of files. They had expected to plead guilty – but to reduced charges of "illegal entry". When that didn't happen, their decision to plead guilty anyway was "encouraged" by a visit from the CIA to all five men. A promise was made of at least $1,000 a month to the families of the defendants for every month they had to stay in jail. It seemed the Nixon administration had been getting a little uptight since some of the defendants had said they may write books about their experiences – telling all – if they were abandoned by their bosses.

From the beginning the Nixon administration had claimed there was no connection between them and the break in at the Watergate. As the case went on it seemed that there was somewhat of a connection - since all the people involved had worked in some capacity for the CIA, or FBI, and McCord, Liddy, and Hunt had all been working on the Committee to Re-elect the President.

The day after the Watergate bust in Miami, Nixons press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, said, "I will not comment on a third-rate burglary attempt. Obviously we don't condone that kind of second-rate activity." He seemed to be implying that they would condone only first-rate professional jobs.

JAMES W. McCORD JR.

G. GORDON LIDDY

The prosecutor in the case, Earl Silbert, said at the beginning of the trial that the defendants were involved in at least six separate disruptive operations against the Democrats, including the break in at the Chilean embassy and electronic monitoring of the activities of leading Democratic U.S. Senators.

Another type of operation was brought up early in the trial by testimony from Thomas Gregory. Gregory said he was recruited by Hunt to infiltrate the campaign staffs of Sen. Ed Muskie and Sen. George McGovern as a volunteer - in exchange for $175 a week. Gregory supplied information about the Democrats presidential campaign plans, financial contributions and any developing splits in leadership.

Although the prosecution had mentioned several disruptive and illegal acts that the group was involved in early in the trial, once they got the trial going t they only talked about the Watergate break in and discouraged any connection between this and the Republicans. To prove this further,is the fact that the prosecutor, Silbert, moved to bury one of the more revealing pieces of evidence uncovered in the investigation - a diary which belonged to the defendant Martinez. It contained daily reports to the CIA on all of the groups actions.

The prosecution also took Donald Segretti off the list of witnesses. Donald Segretti worked for Dwight Chapman, Nixon's own appointment secretary. His testimony would have pulled Nixon in closer to the case. Segretti's testimony also would have made the defendant Hunt a bit more active than was first thought. Apparently Hunt had tried to persuade Segretti to organize an attack on the Republican convention headquarters in the name of the Democratic presidential nominee; this making the Democrats look like the bad guys.

During the trial the prosecutor took great pains to make Liddy out to be "the moneyman, the supervisor and the organizer" - even though he worked for the President's Committee, Silbert said he was "off on an enterprise of his own." But, it was discovered that $39,000 had been channeled out of the Nixon campaign fund to finance Liddy in his little illegal enterprise. If Liddy was the main man, why was he given all that money from the campaign fund and what was he going to dowwith all that information on the Democrats - maybe he wanted to be president?

All through the trial the prosecution was either real stupid - or they understood that you don't bite the hand that feeds you. They are federal employees.

There was a lot of pressure put on this case - by the Republicans, the CIA, and the Justice Department - all of them trying to keep Nixon's mug out of the picture. Why else did 5 of the 7 defendants suddenly have a change in heart and plead guilty? Why else didn't the prosecution use the diary Martinez had? Why else did McCord and Liddy, who claimed to be innocent, put up such a rotten defense? They claimed what they did was to protect the president from the "peace freaks" and "crazies" of the Democratic party.

This is disgusting. The whole campaign of political espionage and sabotage is disgusting. Nixon is disgusting. Worse than that - he's a fascist. This fool has been ranting and raving about law and order - but he seems to be talking about selective enforcement against anyone who doesn't support him. If you don't support him you're a criminal....subversive.... or aiding the enemy.

Nixon talked about his popular mandate from the people. How did he get that ? Many commentators said during the campaign that Nixons new majority was a "mile wide and an inch deep." He knew this. Why else did he see these actions - like the Watergate affair - as necessary to win his election? His whole campaign wasn't based on how he would deal with the issues - but on attacking the Democrats in any dirty way he could think of. Nixon had no intention of having a fair election and even less of having a democratic country. The Watergate scandal is just one small insight into the way this gangster operates.

ALL POWER TO THE PEOPLE!

Bob Lawson, member of the Central Staff of Rising Up Angry, spoke on Friday night of the Assembly. He talked about the conditions in the world and in our lives that make revolution necessary.

"So we came to the conclusion that our personal problems were not individual problems, but rather were the problems and experiences of all working and poor people growing up in this system. And, we saw that the only way we could deal with our personal problems and build a better life for our children and ourselves was by changing the system - by making a revolution."

Mary Wozniak from the Central Staff of Rising Up Angry was the M.C. of the Saturday meeting.

Rising Up Angry is a revolutionary organization. Our job is to educate people, build programs to serve the people, and lead people into struggle to force the existing system to serve the people. In order to do this we need a co-ordinated, educated, unified, and spirited organization.

On January, 26 & 27, Rising Up Angry held an assembly. This was a gathering of people who work in one way or another with the organization. There were presentations from the leadership, reports from the programs, and a lot of free time to talk about our work. There was also a talk by brother Gordon Chang from I Wor Kuen, who described his trip to China and showed pictures o the country.

Steve Tappis, member of the Central Staff of Rising Up Angry, spoke on Saturday night. He talked about the strategy of Rising Up Angry and why the organization is doing what it's doing at this time.

"We need to talk to all those people who don't yet agree with us but should agree with us...
We build programs to serve the people so that people can see from our actions that the revolution is concerned with meeting the people's needs...
We have to build a strong disciplined organization that can organize the people and get things done."

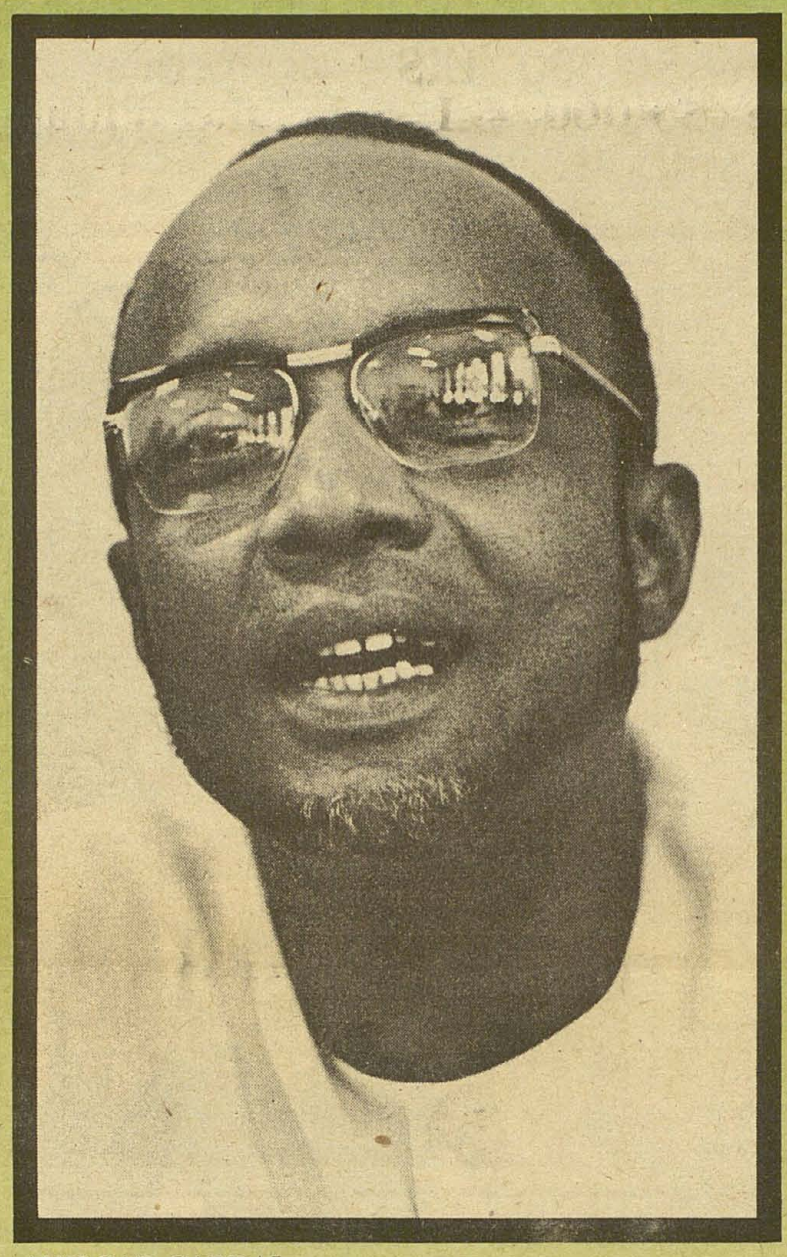
REVOLUTIONARY AFRICAN LEADER ASSASSINATED

On January 20, 1973, an African liberation leader, Amilcar Cabral, was shot to death in front of his home in Conakry (the Republic of Guinea). Although most Americans never heard of Amilcar Cabral, he was one of the most influential revolutionary thinkers of our time.

Cabral was a founder and leader of the liberation movement against Portugese rule in his country, Guinea-Bissau. At the time of his assassination he was Secretary General of the African Party for Independence of Guinea and Cape Verde Islands, (the PAIGC). He was murdered by the Portugese in a last desperate attempt to stop the people of "Portugese" Guinea and the Cape Verde Islands from expelling Portugese colonialism once and for all from their small West African nation.

To understand the greatness of Amilcar Cabral and his contribution to humanity, you have to understand the struggle of his people against Portugese colonialism because CAbral and the people of Guinea-Bissau were one force. Even in his death, the Portugese have not separated Cabral from his people.

Guinea-Bissau (formerly called Portugese Guinea) is located on the west coast of Africa between Senegal and the Republic of Guinea. Its size is only 13,948 square miles (which is half the size of Maine) and its population is only 800,000. The Portugese have occupied and exploited the country for 500 years. During the 15th, 16th, and 17th centuries Guinea-Bissau and the Cape Verde Islands were the center of the flourishing Portugese slave trade. Today there are 4,000 white settlers in Guinea-Bissau who control the government and the economy leaving 99% of the black population with no rights of any kind. In order to try to keep the people from gaining their rights, there are also 40,000 Portugese troops, tons of napalm , and American advisers who are fighting to keep the people of Guinea-Bissau from taking control of their own country.



AMILCAR CABRAL

In the 500 years of Portugese rule 99.9% was kept illiterate and in all this time only 14 Africans received a college education. One of these privileged Africans was Amilcar Cabral who used his advanced education, not to reinforce Portugese rule and get rich; instead he used his education to build a revolutionary party and army among the people to free themselves from the oppression of colonialism.

From 1952 to 1954 Cabral traveled to every corner of his country preparing an agricultural census for the Portugese. What he was also doing was learning about the conditions, customs and needs of all the peoplein his country in order to unite the people and throw the Portugese out. In 1956 he founded the African Party for the Independence of Guinea and Cape Verde Islands (PAIGC). It was a secret organization in the capital city of Bissau. Cabral and other PAIGC members began organizing the workers in the cities with a great deal of success. On August 3, 1959 in the city of Pidjiguiti the dock workers went on strike. Recognizing the revolutionary potential of such actions, the Portugese opened fire on the striking African workers, killing 50 of them. Seeing the extent of the brutality that the Portugese colonialists would go to, the PAIGC decided to change its strategy. They moved to the countryside to organize the peasants to begin a revolutionary guerilla army to expel the Portugese.

In 1960 Cabral moved to Conakry, in the neighboring country of the Republic of Guinea (which had acheived its independence in 1958). There he set up headquarters for the PAIGC and a training school for the Party.

In January 1963, after winning the support of the peasants, the PAIGC launched guerilla warfare in the Southern part of the country. Once this armed struggle began, the liberation army grew rapidly as the people saw a way to improve their lives. By 1967 over ½ of the country had been liberated and by late 1971 2/3 of the population lived in people's liberated territory.

FREEDOM FIGHTERS OF GUINEA-BISSAU

The struggle's great successes came from the PAIGC's total dependence and interrelationship with the people of Guinea-Bissau. Amilcar Cabral, loved and respected by all his people, explained what PAIGC was fighting for: "Independence is not just a simple matter of expelling the Portugese, of having a flag and a national anthem. The people must be secure in the knowledge that no one is going to steal their labor, that the wealth of our country is not going into somebody else's pocket. Even today the Guinean people stand naked and are still afraid of the river, the rain and the forest. We tell the Guinean people that by their work the river will be at their service, the forest will be tamed, and the rain will be put to good use. Our struggle aims at giving people work that will feed and clothe them, hospitals for the sick, schools for all the children. That is one reason our party exists. That is the reason we armed ourselves and will expel the Portugese." So as the PAIGC defeated the Portugese, they began building the new nation by setting up schools, hospitals, and improving production, and the people

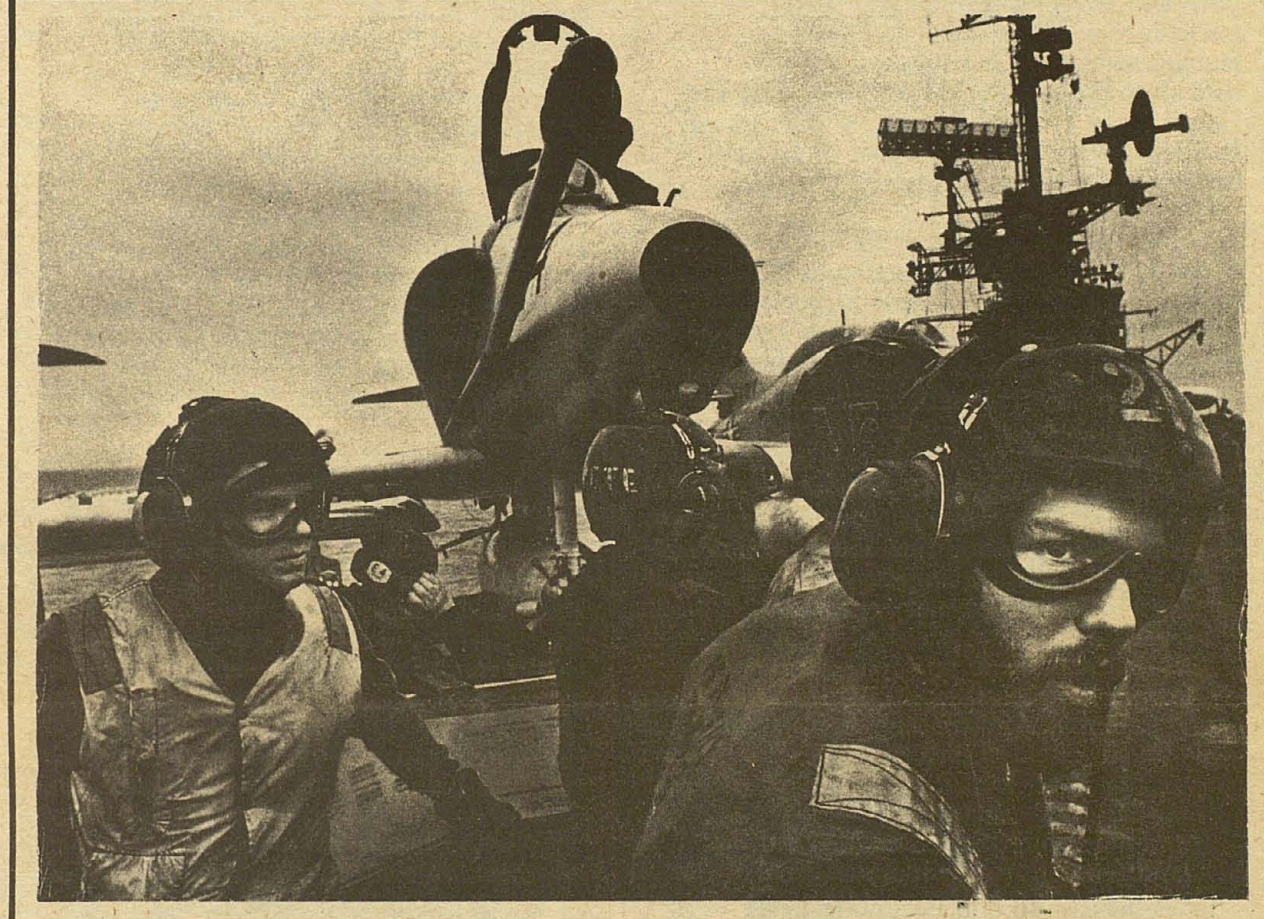
G.I. NEWS

SAILORS FACE SABOTAGE CHARGES

Although headlines all over the country proclaimed: "Peace", for our brothers in the military there is no peace. The continued bombing of Laos and Cambodia, the Seventh Fleet remaining off of the coast of Vietnam, the 50,000 U.S. servicemen and women stationed in Thailand, and the 55,000 G.I.'s in the Philippines shows us that the U.S. military is still at war.



G.I.'s all over the world are forced to endure absurd regulations and harassments because the so-called "ending of the draft" doesn't help those brothers already in the clutches of the branches of the "service".

We cannot let the government's attempt to make us forget about Vietnam make us forget about U.S. G.I.'s who have been and are continuing to be used as cannon fodder. Because ground troops refused to fight and sailors tried to stop their ships by any means necessary, and courageous B-52 crews refused to fly the war ended that much quicker. But for every act of resistance, for every sabotage attempt the military has tried to find scapegoats. It is our duty not to let the military railroad brothers who resisted military authority.

There are two very important cases where sailors Pat Chenoweth and James Fields are being charged with sabotage; the naval steamroller is getting ready to crush these brothers. But with the power of the people behind them, these brothers can defeat the charges and be set free to be among the people.

Pat Chenoweth (U.S.S. Ranger)

Fireman Patrick D. Chenoweth, 21 years old, from Puyallup, Washington is charged with sabotage to the air craft carrier Ranger. The Ranger suffered $800,000 in damage and was held up from going to Vietnam for four months when someone put two bolts and a paint scraper into the ship's gears. The navy is trying to convict Pat Chenoweth of this crime, even though they have no witnesses who observed the alleged acts.

The navy does, however, have witnesses who claim that Pat made statements that he disliked the navy and the war in Vietnam. Other witnesses have testified that Pat was sometimes late for work and that he didn't always have a regulation hair cut. By intimidating witnesses, using circumstantial evidence, and doctoring evidence, the navy hopes to convict Pat.

To further help their case, the navy has moved the trial from Treasure Island, California to Subic Bay in the Philippines. The reason they did this was because Pat's civilian lawyer, Eric Seitz, would probably be arrested if he travelled to the Philippines. (Civilian lawyers working with anti-war G.I.'s have been arrested by the fascist Philippine government.) Furthermore, the navy refuses to pay Seitz' way over there, and will not guarantee his safety. Thus Pat Chenoweth is in effect being denied the right to have an attorney of his choice.

Another reason the trial was moved from the U.S. is because a lot of people have heard of the case and are building a movement to support Pat and expose the navy's lies. But the navy doesn't understand that wherever they try to railroad Pat we will be watching and will be acting in any way we can to make sure that Pat Chenoweth is set free.

James Fields (U.S.S. Chilton)

In November, 1971 the U.S.S. Chilton suffered over $100,000 worth of damage when someone put something in the shaft bearings. On November 15, 1972 James Fields, now a naval reservist and formerly a crew member of the Chilton, was charged with malicious destruction of government property. Allegedly he put an "abrasive substance" in the shaft bearings of the Chilton.

James has pleaded not guilty and asked for a trial by jury. The trial is set to begin on March 1, 1973. We must not let Jim face the navy by himself. We must do all we can to make sure that James Fields is set free.

Power to the Brothers who Resist the War Machine!
Free Pat Chenoweth and James Fields!

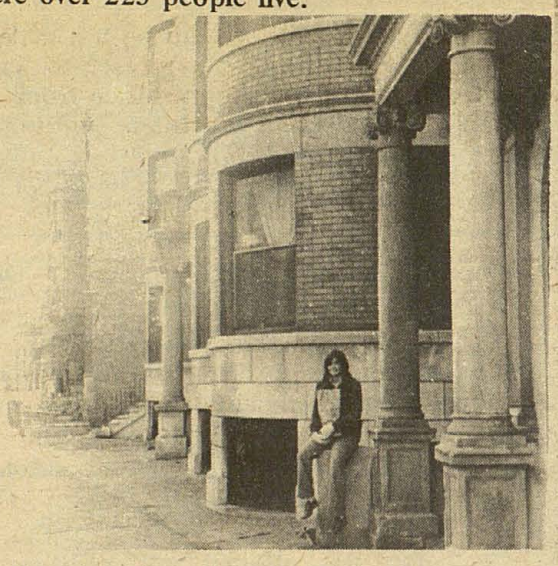
NEW TOWNE / ELAINE PLACE

REAL ESTATE DEVELOPERS DON'T CARE ABOUT THE PEOPLE

Every few years in Chicago greedy real estate speculators and businessmen pick a new part of the city to try and cash in on. They force out the old residents, re-do the apartments that thay had not kept up or repaired before, and then raise the rents, open up restaurants, bars and groovy stores. They pull in the people who can afford to live there – the professionals, businessmen, and swinging young moderns – and attract others to visit and spend money in the new bars, restaurants and gift shops.

First it was Carl Sandburg Village and Old Town, then Northern Lincoln Park along Lincoln Ave. (which they named Serendipity City), and most recently part of Lakeview, now being called New Towne. As is always the case, it is the ordinary poor and working people who suffer, being forced out of their community, seeing friendships and ways of life upset and often destroyed. Take the case of the Elaine Place Tenants on the 3400 block of N. Elaine Place one block east of Halsted between Cornelia and Roscoe.

Milton Zale and his sidekick Harvey Shein are planning a four and a half million dollar redevelopment project that will drive many poor and working Latin, Black and white people from their homes on Elaine Place. Zale and Shein now own eleven buildings on the block and are grabbing for more. These pigs own North Towne Construction Co., North Towne Realty (2460 N. Clark), and Chicago Management Corporation. Zale is reported to own over 200 buildings in the city. In six of the buildings on Elaine Place, Zale has succeeded in forcing out all the tenants. Now he is moving on the remaining 112 units where over 225 people live.



At a meeting with the Elaine Place Tenants, who are working with the Lakeview Latin American Coalition, Zale and Shein made it clear they cared nothing for the people. They are switching over from being slumlords on that block to being renters to the "hip swinging young moderns" and professionals. Zale and Shein don't care that old people and families are forced to find new places to live in in the coldest months of the year. They don't care that kids will have their school disrupted, and that the community is being destroyed. It's not like the people being forced to move can move to the next block, or even stay in the area, because New Towne is expanding. After all, there is money to be made by Shein and Zale, and that means that the people are forced out and suffer.

Apartments on Elaine Place that now rent for $150 for a three bedroom and $130 for a two bedroom, will be turned into studio apartments (one and a half rooms) that will rent for $165 each. Zale and Shein have already gotten their rehabilitation permits (a go ahead from City Hall to start evictions and begin remodeling the buildings) which means that the tenants will find no satisfaction from the Building Department, which is notorious for protecting slumlords and real estate speculators, and doing nothing for the people. The only time the Building Department does anything for the people is when the people force them to, as was the case in Uptown when the GUTMAN CAMPAIGN forced the Building Department to indict slumlord Herman Gutman on Criminal Management.

It appears that this time Zale and Shein have succeeded in heading off any serious resistance to their evil plans. They got their rehabilitation permits in advance, and they evicted people a few at a time. But the people on the block have fought back. They have gotten a lawyer and are engaged in some legal manuvering that will at least slow Zale and Shein down. The Elaine Place Tenants have learned that there is no mercy or concern from the Capitalist landlords, and that we must be building PEOPLE'S ORGANIZATIONS THAT PROTECT AND FIGHT FOR THE PEOPLE. We can't wait until the crisis is already at hand. The seeds of the "Good Housing Is A Human Right" movement are growing. Gutman has been brought up on charges and the people have growing unity and understanding of what has to be done. The day is not far off when we will get all the Gutman's, all the Shein's and Zales, all the Dolans, all the Phil Farleys, McDonough Brothers, Rubloffs and the rest of these greedy enemies of the people.

RIP OFF AMBULANCE COMPANY

On January 21, my 73 year old grandmother was sick and had to go to the hospital. Because she has bad knees and can hardly walk, I had to call the fire department ambulance. But when they got there, they wouldn't take her to Illinois Masonic Hospital where her doctor was because they only go to the nearest hospital. So I called a private ambulance company, Berz, that was close to my house.

The dispatcher, who was rude, said they wouldn't send an ambulance unless I paid them $40.00 flat rate and $1.00 per mile. Since my grandmother was very sick I had to agree. To make things worse, the ambulance didn't get to our house for about 35 minutes.

My grandmother is in the hospital now and doing alright, but someone who had a heart attack would have died. Berz Ambulance Company are a bunch of rip–offs. The whole medical system of this country rips you off. They only make money for the private corporations and don't serve the people. Medical care is a human right!!!

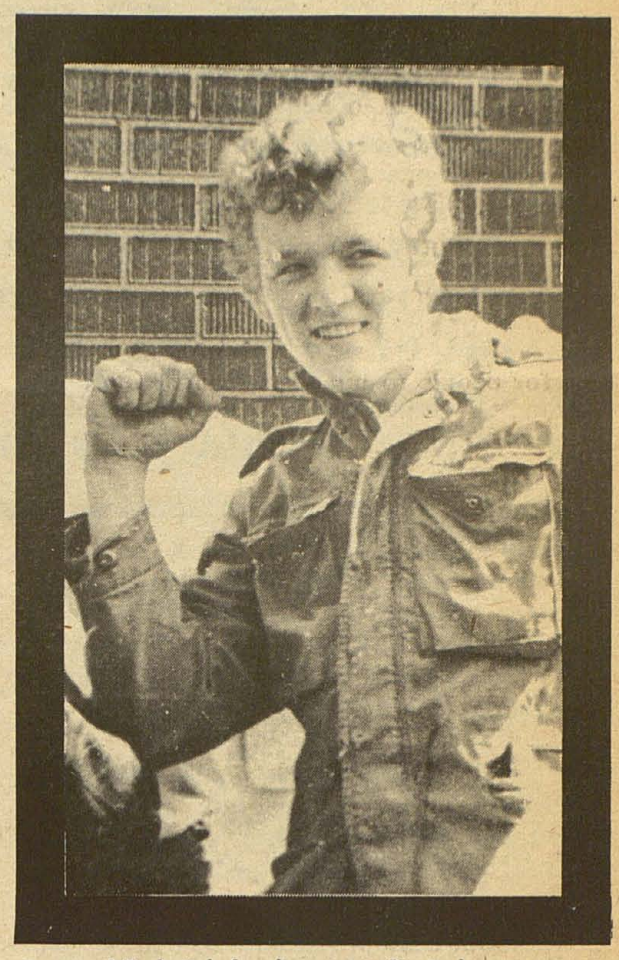
LINCOLN & LILL

RAYMOND TACKETT MURDERED IN KENTUCKY



Raymond Tackett before he went to Kentucky.

Raymond Tackett was a brother who came to Chicago from Kentucky. He lived in the area around Lincoln & Lill with his wife and children. A lot of his friends and relatives from Kentucky lived in the area too. Raymond always was trying to make things better for the community and to serve the people. He was a leader in the Young Patriots Organization of Lincoln Park a few years ago, which fought against the urban renewal going on in the neighborhood. He was also one of the people who struggled to get the Fritzi Englestein Free Peoples Health Center going. Because of a warrant that the pigs had out on him, he had to split Chicago and go back to Kentucky.

In Kentucky he didn't stop trying to serve the people. The people in Everts, Kentucky, (a small mining town), had no hospital–no medical facilities at all. Raymond and some of his friends were organizing to set emergency medical facilities in a day care room. They also wanted 3 emergency cars to be used to get people to the nearest hospital.

The pigs down there didn't like Raymond–because he tried to get people together to fight for their rights. On January 14, 1973, Raymond was shot to death. His relatives are sure that the guy who did it was paid by the pigs. He is saying it was an accident and will probably get off. But the people down there who saw him get shot say it was no accident and are going to fight to get a conviction.

LONG LIVE THE SPIRIT OF BROTHER RAYMOND–ALL POWER TO THE PEOPLE

AMUNDSEN H.S.

Louis Rhodes is a senior at Amundsen. On the last day of school before the teachers' strike, he was leaving the school building after his last class. The assistant principal, William Bourgeois, stopped him at the door and told Louis to go get a pass. Louis said that there was nowhere for him to go get a pass because his last class was over. Bourgeois then took Louis to his office and suspended him for 3 school days. Despite the suspension, Louis was allowed to play basketball against Lane Tech that night–but when he came back to school the Friday after the strike, he was told not to come back until Wednesday and to bring along a parent.

School is bad enough for people without being kicked out for no reason at all, especially when exams are coming up. The pigs who run the school care nothing about the people–all they want us to learn is to follow orders.

STEWART WARNER

Dear RUA,

This letter is from a group of us that work at Stewart-Warner Company (the big factory that flies the American flag on Diversey east of Damen).

Very few of us enjoy working here. We have to put up with all kinds of noxious fumes and filth from paint, oil and glue; a wage that barely allows us to survive–especially at today's prices; discrimination against some of the workers; a union that plays the company's game; being overworked and rushed; etc, etc. In other words, it's like a job in about any American factory.

To handle all this, a group of us got together to make a few changes. We put out a couple leaflets, and passed out stickers for people to put on their machines saying "work like you get paid" picturing people reading and sleeping. People really dug them, and put them up all over!

For the past 2 months, we've been putting out our own Stewart-Warner paper called Talk Back. We try to tell it like it really is, plus give people advice about how we can deal with work and change our conditions. It has led to some actions. Small groups have begun to slow down on production and work together to protest bad conditions or harassment. Some people decided, when they are called into the bosses office, to have him come out instead–so he says what he has to say in front of everyone.

About a month ago we had to deal with our contract, which comes up every 2 years. We wanted a 22 cents an hour raise but management said no "because of the wage freeze." We got together 15 people from different departments and went to the head superintendants office and finally won 20 cents an hour increase and holiday pay.

SENATOR SHOT: "YOU REAP WHAT YOU SOW"

SENATOR SHOT: "YOU REAP JUST WHAT YOU SOW"

When Senator John C. Stennis, Democrat from Mississippi, was shot in front of his Washington D.C. mansion in an armed robbery, there was great concern among high government officials that this kind of "violence" could occur. While we certainly aren't in favor of armed robberies, the shooting of Senator Stennis seems to us like a case of the man reaping just what he sowed. As the Chariman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Stennis supported "violence" around the world by the U.S. military to the tune of billions of our tax dollars every year. As an outspoken racist and a power in the "Southern Bloc" in the Senate, Stennis opposed legislation that would deliminate poverty (which is the root of all armed robberies).

The 71 year old Senator was a creator and supporter of this violent and racist society that we all are forced to live under. The money he has allocated for military use, and his unlimited support of military violence are the very reasons he was shot. We should use this tragic event as a lesson: put the billions of dollars into eliminating poverty and wiping out hard drugs rather than into military weapons and violence.

If our priorities had been straight before, Senator Stennis probably would not now be living in a hospital bed and thousands of other people would not be victims of crime in the streets. Those of us who were forced to become "criminals" to survive, wouldn't be criminals. We can build a society free from racial prejudice where every man and woman who wants to work can get a job at a decent wage. That's the only way to eliminate crime and violence in the streets.

PBC/ PAULINA & BARRY COMMUNITY

Everything has been going great here lately. Harassment from the pigs has gone down to almost nothing and all has been going fine in general. The articles in RUA have contributed greatly to getting the people together and out of the clutches of the fascist porkers.

The bro's and sisters of PBC have come to a better understanding with a lot of people in the 'hood who were down on us before. One example is, we used to get into hassles with people from the tavern on the "vanguard corner" of Paulina & Barry. But, it's now referred to as "People's Tap" by everyone here. Brother Pete works there at night. The juke's full of dynamite jams and the tap is always full of cold beer.

So, to all our friends and to the far-out folks we'd like to make our friends, stop in and see bro Pete and the people of the community to "get high with a little help from your friends."

saw concretely what independence would mean for them and became the strength and backbone of the revolution.

Today the PAIGC has liberated 2/3 of the country and has recently held national elections and established a government of the liberated territory. The government is called the National Assembly and is made up of 120 elected representatives. On the local level People's Committees, elected by their villages, are the government. In each of the nine regions there are functioning hospitals and there are over 300 medical personnel and 200 clinics. The PAIGC maimtains two well-equipped hospitals in the neighboring Republic of Guinea.

In a country where formerly 99.9% of the people were illiterate, today there are 200 primary schools in the liberated zones serving 20,000 students. There are six boarding schools for over 400 of the most talented children and children whose parents have died in the struggle. The PAIGC has sent over 500 students abroad to study so they can return to help build up the country after independence has been acheived.

The tremendous victories of the people of Guinea-Bissau, the PAIGC and Amilcar Cabral extend well beyond the borders of their small underdeveloped nation. Because they have been successful in defeating Portugese forces, the PAIGC has been an inspiration to the people of Angola and Mozambique, two much wealthier Portugese colonies in Africa. As Guinea-Bissau has moved closer to independence the struggle throughout Africa has intensified and Portugal has had to call on the U.S. for aid. Freedom for African nations would hurt U.S. business on that continent (direct and indirect U.S. investments totaled $4,129,000,000.00 in 1964 and is much larger now). So the U.S. supplies Portugal with military aid, economic aid and napalm.

Understanding the international significance of the struggle in Guinea-Bissau, the United Nations allowed Amilcar Cabral to address it as a representative of all the African liberation movements in October 1972. At that time Brother Cabral said: "For four years one of the fundamental aims of the Portugese has been to kill not only myself, but also other leaders of the party. Because they believe that if they kill me it is finished for our fight."

So on January 20th the Portugese finally assassinated Cabral. But it is too late. Soon Guinea-Bissau will declare its independence and the people there will build up their country as an example to the rest of the world of People's Power. Bullets and lies cannot kill Amilcar Cabral because he is alive in the hearts and minds of not only his own people in Guinea-Bissau, but also in the hearts of millions of people all over Africa and all over the world who believe that people should run their own lives, control their own labor and be free. Amilcar Cabral will haunt the Portugese imperialists, the U.S. imperialists and all enemies of the people until they are driven from the face of the earth!
